

COLLECTIVE READINGS

JOURNAL REFLECTIONS

FLICKER A FORTUNE

Trust your Flicker. Follow your Fortune

www.flickerafortune.com

@FlickeraFortune

Episode One: Crossroads

"For those standing between what has ended and what may be sparked next"

DEAREST SPARK,

Thank you for diving a little deeper on this reading, bright flame. The fire within has the obligation to grow responsibly, lest it burn thoughtlessly and out of control. I see a spark who has endured, through soul crushing situations and circumstances. You stand at the crossroads of choice: stay stuck in the past and wallow, or you move forward with determination and grit towards the life you have envisioned.

You must weigh the consequences of your choice - will you stay a victim or will you take control of your life? Now, that is not to take away from your journey, you have had realistic roadblocks in your way, but in the process you have blended excuses with legitimate reasons, and up until this point you were unable to start. You view this choice with suspicion and warily, where you should be seeing an opportunity, you see this potential change masquerading as your unwanted and untimely demise. However, this change... this is the change you have asked for.

This is the change you have begged that the universe provide- whether that be through prayer, manifestation, or even simply saying you want it. The opportunity is here, the time is now. You are dangerously close to ignoring one of the final opportunities the universe will hand you, from here it will be far more difficult of a journey should you try to circle back to this path.

You have told the Universe, the Creator your wishes, and it is trying to reach you... but you have an obligation to grow responsibly. Have you directed your efforts wisely? What are you doing in order to achieve your dreams? Its no longer enough to gather information on the sidelines. You are being asked to take action in your life - so that you may build something so beautiful and foundational for yourself.

This collective reading acknowledges your past and your pain, but it serves you not to cling on what hurt you. Release what no longer serves you or your future. In the aftermath of the years long campaign for emotional survival and physical stability, what ruled you then no longer serves you now. Soon, you will be transitioning to a higher form of maturity and understanding; do not bring the past into this peaceful future. Allow your wisdom to shine through and apply the learning you have gained through a lifetime.

I hope that you gain a greater understanding for yourself through this reading and the work of myself and Flicker a Fortune. Here, we will learn how to examine ourselves thoughtfully, kindly holding ourselves and each other accountable to the path that we ourselves choose.

I look forward to traveling down the path together, holding space and offering perspective should you ever need an opportunity to reflect.

Brightest Blessings,

Auntie Flame

Thank you for spending a little time by the hearth with me today, tending to both your flame and mine.

As Flicker a Fortune continues to grow, my goal is to create an environment in which emotionally and spiritually we encourage each other to thrive. I intend on building a community rooted in reflection, accountability, effort, and growth. A space where we can examine ourselves honestly, celebrate our victories, learn from our mistakes, and continue moving toward the lives we wish to create.

The flame within each of us deserves tending. Not through perfection, but through intention. Through effort and small choices made consistently. Through courage when the path ahead feels unstable and uncertain.

Thank you for supporting Auntie Flame and for allowing me to walk alongside you for a spell on your journey. Whether you visit once or stay for many seasons, I am grateful our paths crossed.

Until our paths meet again, may your hearth stay warm, your light remain steady, and your wisdom continue to grow.

BRIGHTEST BLESSINGS,

Auntie Flame

